SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING AND TECHNOLOGY

DEPARTMENT OF CIVIL ENGINEERING

About the Programme

The ultimate goal is to store excess energy in or along-side the Solar Roadways. This renewable energy replaces the need for the current fossil fuels used for the generation of electricity. This, in turn, reduces the greenhouse gases by half. The Solar Roadways system would might, at present, cost about three times what it costs to install an asphalt road, but would be more durable more easily replaced in a modular fashion, and able to pay for itself by generating more electricity than our economy can consume. At just 15% efficiency, far below what is expected, a 100% Solar Roadways enabled driving infrastructure would produce three times total electricity demand. There are additional benefits as well, which is a built-in smart grid, major new investment, and job creation, the economic benefits inherent in global leadership in building the most advanced clean energy infrastructure every dollar invested in renewable sources, ultimately generates returns, because the resource is not burned and lost.

Road Surface Layer: This is the top most layers of the assembly & also from this layer the solar rays will reach upto the photovoltaic cells; they should be translucent and high-strength. Also, this is made in such a fashion that it is rough enough to provide great traction to avoid the skidding of vehicles. The material is made rough but the material used is translucent, it still passes sunlight through it to the solar collector photovoltaic cells embedded within it, along with LEDs & a heating element. And it is tough enough for handling today's heaviest loads under the worst conditions and it is made water-proof so that it can prevent electronics layer beneath it. Electronics Layer Contains a microprocessor board with support circuitry for sensing loads on the surface and controlling a heating element. By implementing this technology no more snow/ice removal and no more school/business closings due to inclement weather in the snow falling regions. Electronics layer collects energy from the sun, it is the base plate layer that distributes power (collected from the electronics layer) and data signals (phone, TV, internet, etc.) "down-line" to all homes and businesses connected to the Solar Roadway.

Each panel's covers an area of about 4.39 square feet. The Solar panels generate 48 watt. 15840 panels for 1 mile. 414.984MWh produced per year for 1 mile. The glass has undergone both 3D Finite Element Method analysis and actual physical load testing at civil engineering labs. The results showed that Solar Roadways can handle trucks up to 250,000lbs (113,398kg). Originally, it was thought that Solar Roadways panels would need to support only about 80,000lbs (36,287kg), the maximum legal limit for a semitruck. Upon further research, it became apparent that since logging trucks have no scales in the woods, which can be exceeded. The goal was then adjusted to 150,000lbs. It was subsequently learned that oil companies can get permission to move refinery equipment up to 230,000lbs on frozen roads, so the goal was increased to 250,000lbs.

About the Programme

Soil nailing is a remedial construction measure to treat unstable natural soil slopes or unstable man-made (fill) slopes as a construction technique that allows the safe over-steepening of new or existing soil slopes. The technique involves the insertion of relatively slender reinforcing elements into the slope – often general purpose reinforcing bars (rebar) although proprietary solid or hollow-system bars are also available. Solid bars are usually installed into pre-drilled holes and then grouted into place using a separate grout line, whereas hollow bars may be drilled and grouted simultaneously by the use of a sacrificial drill bit and by pumping grout down the hollow bar as drilling progresses. Kinetic methods of firing relatively short bars into soil slopes have also been developed.

Bars installed using drilling techniques are usually fully grouted and installed at a slight downward inclination with bars installed at regularly spaced points across the slope face. A rigid facing (often pneumatically applied concrete, otherwise known as shotcrete) or isolated soil nail head plates may be used at the surface.[1] Alternatively, a flexible reinforcing mesh may be held against the soil face beneath the head plates. Rabbit proof wire mesh and environmental erosion control fabrics and may be used in conjunction with flexible mesh facing where environmental conditions dictate.

Soil nail components may also be used to stabilize retaining walls or existing fill slopes (embankments and levees); this is normally undertaken as a remedial measure.
